

The Indigenous Geographies Speakers Series

INDIGENOUS GEOGRAPHIES AS CHALLENGE AND INVITATION: GEOGRAPHY FOR AND WITH INDIGENOUS PEOPLES

Academic discussion of Indigenous geographies is generally framed by a series of binaries around notions of presence/absence, possession/dispossession, and rights/charity. By re-considering each of these binary constructions, this seminar considers the foundations for a new orientation to Indigenous Geographies and Indigenous Rights, and explores how the discipline might respond.

Professor Richard Howitt

Chair of Human Geography, Department of Environment & Geography

Macquarie University, NSW, Australia

Monday, May 9th

4:00 PM

317 Lindley

Sponsored by: Department of Geography

Center for Research on Global Change