SCOPE OF MONOGRAPH

One of the major objectives of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) is to help the unemployed, underemployed, discouraged, and/or disadvantaged workers in their search for jobs and/or more productive employment. To satisfy that goal, CETA officials must have accurate estimates of the number of people eligible for such aid.

With the aim of helping local planners and policymakers identify the target groups, the Institute for Economic and Business Research, while working on the Kansas Labor Market Information Project, has prepared estimates of CETA eligibility. This monograph presents the estimates developed from Current Population Survey data. (See List of Tables p. i.)

The Current Population Survey (CPS) is the source of the official government statistics on employment and unemployment. The CPS has been conducted monthly for over 35 years, interviewing about 68,000 households monthly, scientifically selected on the basis of area of residence to represent the nation as a whole, individual states, and other specified areas. Each household is interviewed once a month for four consecutive months one year and again for the corresponding time period a year later.

Although the main purpose of the Survey is to collect information on the employment situation, a very important secondary purpose is to collect information on the demographic status of the population-- information such as age, sex, race, marital status, educational attainment, and family structure. From time to time, additional questions are included on such important subjects as health, education, income, and previous work experience. These statistics serve to update similar information collected once every 10 years through the decennial Census and are used by government policymakers and legislators as indicators of our nation's economic situation and as guides for planning and evaluating many government programs.

Because it is not possible to develop one or two overall figures (such as the number of unemployed) that would adequately describe all the complexities of the labor market, the CPS is designed to provide a large amount of detailed and supplementary data. Such data are made available to meet a wide variety of needs on the part of users of labor market information.

For example, the CPS provides the only available distributions of workers by the number of hours worked (as distinguished from aggregate or average hours for an industry), permitting separate analyses of part-time workers, workers on overtime, etc. The Survey is also the only comprehensive current source of information on the occupation of workers and the industries in which they work. As well, information is available from the Survey not only for persons currently in the labor force but also for those who are outside the labor force. The characteristics of such persons--whether married women with or without young children, disabled persons, students, older retired workers, etc.--can also be determined, and information on their current desire for work, their past work experience, and their job-seeking intentions is available.

The Annual Demographic File contains data collected from the March CPS supplement, the most comprehensive supplemental inquiry. This file contains detailed family structure, marital status, education, income, work experience, and migration data.

This report provides estimates for both the United States and the State of Kansas. The estimates cover the period from 1978 to 1982. The estimates have been provided separately for males and females and for males and females combined.

Following descriptions and/or definitions of significant terms (Tables 1 and 2), the estimates are presented. CETA eligibility has been defined under different categories. Table 1 describes the eligibility criteria; Table 2 explains data-element definitions.
